Girls with the time machine:

I am your granddaughter

Really?

Boys with the time machine:

These are our celestial lyran goddess creators
These divine angelic entities explore the galaxies and beyond, seeding and guiding many worlds
They seeded our world very long ago. They protect us from threats far far greater than what we could ever hope to control, but we are free to make our own choices on this small planet until we're ready to be side by side with them.